HISTORICAL SKETCH OF CHAPTER.

ABOUT twenty-five ladies met in the Newton Club House, October 3, 1896, and the Sarah Hull Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution was organized. The State Regent, Miss Sarah E. Hunt presided, and appointed the following officers :

Regent, Mrs. Alexander M. Ferris.

Secretary, Miss Susan A. Whiting.

Treasurer, Mrs. William T. Logan.

At the first business meeting held at the residence of the Chapter Regent, December 2, 1896, constitution and by-laws were adopted. During the year which followed the Chapter made a surprising growth in interest and membership, and much time was necessarily spent in becoming well organized and in members becoming acquainted with one another. Three lineal descendants of Sarah Hull joined during this year; they were Mrs. Sarah Fuller Read, Mrs. Annie Fields Vila, Mrs. Ella Wingate Ireland.

When the first annual meeting was held, March 2,

1898, the membership was ninety-one. The size and needs of the Chapter demanded more than three officers, so the constitution was changed and the following officers added, Vice Regent, Corresponding Secretary, Historian, and Executive Committee.

The second annual meeting, March 6, 1899, showed the membership limit of one hundred had been reached. To accede to the growing needs of the Chapter, it was voted to increase the membership to one hundred and twenty-five.

A brief review of what has been accomplished during the two chapter years in here in order.

The Historian is gradually getting a collection of articles of interest to the Chapter and to the community. Two gavels may be mentioned, one made from the frigate Constitution, and the other from the old Hull and Fuller house. The Archives containing papers which have been read before the Chapter will soon be of considerable value, comprising information of all periods of this country's history, from the earliest Colonial days down to the present time. It is hoped that a large proportion of members will contribute to the ancestor papers, recently inaugurated by the Chapter, but it is realized that every member in joining the Daughters of the Revolution has learned facts of her own ancestry and of our country's history which will be of benefit not only to herself, but to future generations.

Up to the time of the breaking out of the war, it seemed that the Chapter had fostered the right spirit. The meetings came once a month from October to June, inclusive. The exercises usually consisted of a business program, literary and musical exercises, and a social hour. A helpfulness in Chapter work, a loyalty to the Daughters of the Revolution, to the Sarah Hull Chapter and its members, and a kindly spirit in social life were necessary foundations for the best patriotic work. A readiness to help the State Society in all its good work was noticeable, also a willingness to aid other societies or Chapters in patriotic work.

War is not necessary to prove patriotism, but when the war came, the members were ready. News reached the Chapter of the need and terrible suffering of the soldiers, and immediate action was necessary. After solemn Memorial Day exercises at the graves of Gen. and Mrs. Hull, the executive committee met and voted that every member be assessed to secure a fund to be used toward the relief work for the soldiers. As was expected, a ready response came to this appeal, and about a hundred dollars was soon raised. The committees appointed, and the members generally, were glad of the opportunity to do something to relieve the pressing need. The work of Mrs. W. D. Tripp the chairman, and of Mrs. E. W. Howe should be especially mentioned, also the personal contributions of Mrs. A. F. Hayward and Mrs. A. M. Ferris, which were the largest sent through the Chapter. During the summer the following supplies were forwarded to the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association :

50 hospital sheets.
50 sheets for ship-board.
52 surgical shirts.
53 hospital shirts.
9 dozen handkerchiefs.
86 sterilized bandages.
1020 surgical sponges.
Abdominal bands.
Old linen, etc.

Many valuable contributions were sent by members of the Sarah Hull Chapter through other organizations. Mrs. S. Curtis Smith, one of our number, was president of the Newton Branch of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association. That organization did an immense amount of work besides raising over one thousand dollars, many of the Sarah Hull Chapter contributing generously toward this amount. Another marked instance of patriotism was the work done by Mrs. Ella Wingate Ireland, our Long Island member, who worked indefatigably during and after the war. The Chapter was favored in having Mrs. Ireland present at its first meeting for the season, October 27, 1898, when she told in a graphic manner of her work at Camp Wikoff.

The Chapter has since then sent six barrels of books and magazines to the headquarters of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association to be forwarded to the soldiers in camps. Mrs. D. S. Emery kindly attended to the work of packing and sending the literature.

When the stress of war work was over the Chapter resumed its work along the lines of peace.

Believing that nothing more useful could be accomplished than the training of future citizens, the Sarah Hull Chapter organized a local branch of the Junior Auxiliary, which the children named the Caleb Stark Chapter. Miss Kate W. Fox was appointed Director, and John W. Webber, Secretary. The membership is increasing rapidly, and it is most encouraging to the parent Chapter to find the young people so enthusiastic for patriotic work.

It is hoped that the custom already started by the Sarah Hull Chapter of commemorating certain days each year may be continued. These days are,

Dec. 2. The Anniversary of first Business Meeting.

Jan. 1. New Year's Day.

Feb. 12. Abraham Lincoln's Birthday.

May 30. Memorial Day. Exercises at graves of Gen. and Mrs. Hull.

June 14. Flag-Day for an Outing.

The charming New Year's Receptions given by the Regent, Mrs. Ferris, will long be remembered by all privileged to attend. A notable occasion in the early history of the Chapter, one enjoyed through the kindness of the Regent, was a luncheon at Young's Hotel and a visit to historic points of interest at the North End, in Boston. The outings to Concord and Lexington have been most profitable and enjoyable days.

The large attendance and great enthusiasm at all the monthly meetings shows the general interest. There is much executive ability as well as literary and musical talent among the members. The entertainments are generally furnished by the members, but in a few instances outside speakers have favored the Chapter, as follows: Miss Sarah E. Hunt, State Regent; Miss Mary C. Sawyer, State Registrar; Prof. Augustus Bedford, Rev. Francis B. Hornbrooke, and Mr. Samuel Curtis Smith.

Papers by Chapter members have been given on the following subjects:

Mrs. A. M. Ferris — My Civil War Experiences.

Mrs. F. B. Hornbrooke — 1. Anne Bradstreet.
2. Valentine Prentiss.

Mrs. Sewall C. Cobb — 1. Sarah Fuller Hull. 2. Revolutionary events preceding the Evacuation of Boston.
3. Maj. Benj. Burton.

Mrs. Sarah Fuller Read — 1. Reminiscences of my grandmother, Sarah Hull. 2. Commodore Isaac Hull.

Mrs. F. T. Benner — The frigate Constitution.

Mrs. F. O. Stanley — Abraham Lincoln.

The following ladies have entertained the Chapter in their homes :

Mrs. A. M. Ferris.

Mrs. C. M. Tillinghast.

Mrs. M. B. Whiting.

Mrs. F. O. Stanley.

Mrs. S. B. Whittemore.

Mrs. L. L. Tower.

Mrs. E. B. Rogers.

Miss M. R. Wheeler.

Mrs. E. W. Howe.

The following ladies have entertained at the Hunnewell Club :

Mrs. F. B. Hornbrooke.

Mrs. L. E. Coffin.

Mrs. S. C. Smith.

Mrs. D. S. Emery.

Mrs. E. W. Howe.

Mrs. F. E. Stanley.

Mrs. J. E. Alden.

Mrs. W. H. Foss.

Mrs. A. F. Adams.

Mrs. J. B. Fuller.

The following have repeatedly assisted in a musical way :— Mrs. H. H. Shumway, Mrs. W. T. Logan, Miss Margaretta Logan, Miss M. R. Wheeler, Mrs. J. H. Wheeler, Jr.

Many members have rendered efficient aid on committees, for literary and musical programs, hospitality, decorations, refreshments, outings, patriotic work, etc. The Chapter feels gratitude to all who have helped on its life and work and realizes that others stand equally ready to serve when needed.

The third year opens most auspiciously; the work already planned for the Chapter promises to be both interesting and instructive. The first meeting was held at the home of Mrs. James H. Wheeler, Jr., when papers were given by Mrs. W. B. Rogerson, Mrs. W. D. Tripp, and Mrs. T. W. Trowbridge. Earnest local patriotic work is to be a feature of the year. Pictures of George and Martha Washington are very soon to be presented to the Newton High School, and other work will follow.

Thus with everything tending toward growth and progress, the Chapter looks hopefully toward the future.

SARAH HULL

HER

ANCESTORS AND DESCENDANTS.

Newton residents have especial reason for honoring Sarah Hull's ancestors. Her two great-grandfathers, John Fuller and Edward Jackson, may be designated as "the fathers of Newton;" their posterity far outnumbers that of any other of the early settlers of the town, and twenty-two of their descendants served in the Revolutionary War. A few particulars of these ancestors, with facts concerning some of their more prominent descendants, must be of interest and value to a Newton Chapter.

John Fuller came to Newton, it is supposed, in 1635. He was one of the first settlers, and bought one thousand acres of land in a part of Cambridge, the name of which was changed in 1691 to New Town.

Edward Jackson emigrated to America in 1645, and in the following year bought of Gov. Simon Bradstreet five hundred acres of land belonging to what was known as the Mayhew Farm, in Watertown.

Capt. Joseph Fuller, third son of John Fuller, married Lydia Jackson, daughter of Edward Jackson, and with the daughter he received a dowry of twenty-three acres of land from the westerly end of Mayhew Farm. This land, with the two hundred acres inherited from his father, comprised what was long known in Newton as the "Fuller Farm." From Joseph Fuller, this farm descended to his son, Jos. Fuller, Jr., then to his son Abraham Fuller, who left it to his daughter Sarah Fuller Hull, for whom this Chapter is named.

Joseph Fuller, Jr., married Sarah Jackson, granddaughter of John Jackson, who came to America with his brother Edward, and their son, Judge Abraham Fuller, came into possession of the estate in 1776. Judge Fuller was a man of sterling integrity, and was highly respected by his fellow citizens. He held many important offices in Newton and the State. He was selectman four years, representative to the General Court eighteen years, delegate to the Provincial Congress, senator to the Council, and judge of the Court of Common Pleas. He was an earnest patriot, and the day before the fight in Concord, fearing that the British might destroy the records at that place, he rode over from Newton, and carried away in his saddle-bags the most valuable of the papers.

Sarah Fuller Hull, daughter of Judge Fuller, and his wife, Sarah Dyer, was born in Newton, April 27, 1759.

In 1781 she married Gen. Wm. Hull, who was born in Derby, Connecticut, June 24, 1753. William Hull graduated from Yale College in 1772, and was admitted to the bar in 1775. He entered the army at the breaking out of the war, and won many laurels for his bravery. In 1777 he received a Major's commission, and in 1779 was made Lieutenant-Colonel. His services until the close of the war were numerous, and he was regarded by General Washington as one of his most efficient officers. His wife went with him to the army, and was his constant companion. She was in several campaigns, and proved herself always cheerful and courageous, even when the days were darkest.

After peace was declared Lieutenant-Colonel Hull and his wife returned to Newton, living in the Nonantum House for a short time, then in the old Fuller house. Isaac Hull, a nephew, afterwards famed as commander of the frigate Constitution, lived in Newton with the Hulls more than a year during this period. William Hull here commenced the practice of law, and soon became a leader among the people. He represented the people as senator from Middlesex County for several terms, and in 1800 was appointed Major-General of the military division of his county, and rendered efficient aid in quelling Shay's Rebellion.

In 1805 General Hull was appointed Governor of Michigan Territory, and held the office until 1814. He was a very popular governor, and Mrs. Hull was admirably fitted for the position she was called to occupy.

Travelers and officers from distant military posts always found a warm and generous welcome in her hospitable home. "At her table were mind, taste, letters, and good manners."

In 1814, they again returned to Newton, and made large additions to the house built one hundred and thirty years before by Joseph Fuller, Mrs. Hull's great-grandfather.*

The Marquis de Lafayette visited General Hull in 1825. In the autumn of the same year General Hull died aged seventy-two years. Sarah Hull died the following year, aged sixty-seven years. Her life was a strong and courageous one, worthy her noble sires, and one furnishing an example to people of all times. Let us not forget to honor her memory, as her descendants are doing, by lives of patriotism and virtue.

Gen. and Mrs. Hull had seven children, six daughters and one son. Their only son, Abraham Fuller Hull, gave his life for his country in the war of 1812. He was captain of the 9th U. S. Regiment and was killed in Canada at the battle of Lundy's Lane, July 25, 1818, aged twenty-eight years.

* In after years this estate came into possession of Gov. Claflin, and the house was sold at auction. Mr. J. L. Roberts bought it and moved it to the corner of Walnut and Austin streets, Newtonville. Mr. Roberts occupied it until his death. It was used by the Newton Club for a few years as a Club House, and in June, 1895, was torn down to make way for the march of improvement.

One of the daughters, Rebecca Parker Hull, married Dr. Samuel Clarke, and was the mother of the eminent divine, Rev. James Freeman Clarke, and of Samuel C. Clarke, who compiled and published the history of the Hulls and Fullers of Newton. Another daughter, Maria Campbell, prepared from the manuscripts of her father a history of his Revolutionary services and his civil life, to which is added a history of the campaign of 1812, by his grandson, Rev. James Freeman Clarke.

Other notable descendants are Dr. Francis Miller McLellan, who served as surgeon in the Civil War. Dr. George Otis, a cousin, was surgeon of a Massachusetts regiment, and served through the Civil War. He was the founder of the celebrated Medical and Surgical Museum at Washington, D. C., and collected much of interest and value to this country and the world, for which he received the thanks of Congress.

Isaac McLellan, grandson of Sarah Hull, poet and author, is now living in Greenport, Long Island, having attained his ninety-third year. He has always been an enthusiastic sportsman, and has afforded much pleasure to the public by his writings and poems on the habits of wild fowl and fishes of America.

The services of the Wheeler family in the late war with Spain have been remarkable. Gen. Joseph Wheeler is grandson of Sarah Hull. Although nearly sixty-three years old at the opening of the late war, he left his congressional work and enlisted. His services are now a matter of history, and he has written a book on the Spanish-American War

Patriotic work was also done by two sons and four daughters of Gen. Wheeler, the two sons and one daughter going to Cuba, and afterwards all seven going to the relief of the soldiers at Camp Wikoff, Long Island. Thomas Wheeler sacrificed his life there to save a friend from drowning. The services of Miss Annie Laurie Wheeler, the Red Cross nurse, are well-known, and receive the gratitude they deserve. Joseph Wheeler Jr. is professor of mathematics at West Point.

Mrs. Ella Wingate Ireland great-granddaughter of Sarah Hull, formed an auxiliary of the Red Cross, and rendered efficient aid to the soldiers at Camp Wikoff.

With such examples, may the members of Sarah Hull Chapter never weary in doing the work for which the Daughters of the Revolution stands, for "Liberty, Home, and Country."
